Aims & Scope

The mission of Business Administration Review (BAREv) is to publish scholarly research that advances the knowledge in business and management. BAREv particularly welcomes contributions that address topics of relevance to the European context.

The journal publishes research findings that are relevant for further development of business and management theory and practice. BAREv welcomes empirical, methodological, and/or theoretical contributions. The journal is open to contributions originating in a wide range of academic disciplines both within business and management and beyond (e.g., economics, law, psychology, public administration, and sociology). Empirical replication studies for the German or European setting are welcome if they make a clear argument questioning or extending the insights of the original paper. Manuscripts should address real-world problems, highlight the relevance of the study, emphasize the differences to prior work, and include a concise statement of the contribution to the literature.

Regularly, BAREv will organize topical sections to emphasize new research directions. Recent topics include »integration of financial and managerial accounting«, »economic analysis of labour law«, »structural equation modeling«, and »management of data quality«.

Papers may be published in English or German. Submissions to BAREv must follow the journal's Style Guide, including formatting, length, and references. The current turnaround time for a first decision is less than six weeks. To avoid unnecessary delay, a paper may be directly returned to the author if the editors determine that it is not suitable for the journal.
